ROCKDRILL SERVICES AUSTRALIA

RDSA is on the move!

Rockdrill Services Australia manufactures rock drills (drifters) and drill parts, providing a full range of training and maintenance services for drills supplied by RDSA and leading OEMs. Since its beginnings in Kalgoorlie 12 years ago, RDSA has grown to become Australia's largest independent manufacturer and servicer of rockdrills: now with three locations and more than 50 employees.

"Our growing range of products and services support our mission to maximise Rockdrill performance," CEO Hamish Christie-Johnston said.

"We now manufacture, sell and service new and refurbished drills and continue to support all the common OEM models."

To support this continued growth, RDSA's Kalgoorlie branch will be relocating to a new facility at 12 William Street in late May. The interior layout of the new building has been purpose designed to maximise work flow efficiency, incorporating a number of state-of-the-art technologies.

Christie-Johnston said the Kalgoorlie branch will underpin continued expansion, which recognises the importance of the Goldfields to their business.

With the mining industry focused on lowering costs and increasing capital efficiency, RDSA is well placed to help miners make the most of existing and new drill rigs, whether they are used in production, development or ground support.

"RDSA has become a trusted business partner for many of Australia's leading owner miners and contractors, all of whom appreciate our focus on cost-per-metre," said Christie-Johnston.

RDSA also invests heavily in research and development to improve the performance of both RDSA and OEM drills and as a result holds a number of international patents on innovative products.

The new site will also present increased opportunities to host regular customer visits to showcase RDSA's products to WA based customers.

Plans have been put in place to ensure there is no disruption to the high standard of service and fast turnaround times during the transition.
